

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A biochip comprising probes spotted on a plate at a plurality of positions by using a binding agent for binding the probes to the plate, wherein the binding agent is locally spotted at positions where the probes are spotted.

1. A biochip comprising probes spotted on a plate at a plurality of positions by using a binding agent for binding the probes to the plate, wherein the binding agent is locally spotted at positions where the probes are spotted.